Plenty of Rain And No Hoppers' Predicted For 1934

Cardston's own weather forecaster has come to bat once more. He prognosticates a wetish summer, tough on the grasshoppers. On Jan. 12th he wrote that this would be a remarkably "open" winter. At that time there was plenty of snow and lots of ice. Since then it has been not only open but mild, setting up the high temperature record since readings have been taken in Southern Alberta over a period of 32 years.

"Last year, I gave you on March 22" he says, "the line-up for the summer. I told you I could see very little rain, if any, in June. You got rain on June 23rd, which rightfully belonged to the first week of July, as the cycle of moisture showed for July 3—and that nothing to boast of."

"How would you like to take a squint at a long range view of the spring and summer without waiting for March 17 to begin. April 18 is the spring. From April 18 to May 18 is the period. I do not say every day, but this is the wet period of the coming season. June will be a much wetter month than last year, there being scheduled several rains periodic. Mark June rain month."

"One of the finest years for crops is now upon us—are we ready to hit the land with barrow and drill? Apparently the grasshopper is doomed this far west according to indications for rains early in the season."

Seed Grain Exchange Policy

Over one hundred farmers were present at the community hall, Monday February 19, when two government field men from the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, talked on the registered seed exchange policy and the grasshopper situation.

They told about the benefits derived from keeping seed pure. Applications for the registered seed amounted to a carload which will be distributed here. Farmers can exchange one hundred bushels of commercial grain, basis No. 1 northern for seventy-one bushels of the registered seed. The grasshopper menace was discussed by the speakers. They stated that unfavorable weather during the hatching of eggs would result in the destruction of large numbers of hoppers. However they stated that the government had done every thing possible and was prepared to cope with the situation if necessary.

A Tired, Worn Out Woman Can't Make a Happy Home

There is no happiness in the home where the mother is sick and worried by the never ending household duties. She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, has shortness of breath, faint and dizzy can't sleep, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as she went to bed, and is disheartened and discouraged.

Milburn's N. & N. Pills will soon convince women it is not necessary to suffer as they have taken the nervous system and bring back the former health and vigor.

Prevention of War

As this article is written, headlines in the daily newspapers tell of rioting in the streets of Paris and in many of the provincial cities and towns of France; of barricaded streets and buildings in Vienna, and other Austrian centers of population where Government forces resist and seek to put down an uprising on the part of Socialists in that country; of warlike preparations on the part of Russia in Siberia in anticipation of a struggle with Japan. In a word, reports from both Europe and Asia seem to indicate that just below the surface of things there is a seething volcano that may at any moment burst forth in death and destruction among the nations on a scale that might surpass the Great War of 1914-1918.

And while the front pages of the daily papers feature these alarming reports, inside pages in many of the larger papers are devoted to the presentation of hundreds of pictures to the public taken in the Great War and with particular reference to the part taken in that grim struggle by the manhood of this Dominion. Many of these pictures are terrible, shocking, gruesome. They depict little or nothing of what used to be regarded as the glamour and glory of war, instead, they reveal a life passed in the midst and hourly expectation of death, or mutilation worse than death, and in surroundings such as the meanest beast would not tolerate. These pictures illustrate modern war for the awful thing it is, and no doubt the object in presenting these pictures to the public at this time is to develop a horror of war and to strengthen the determination of the people of Canada to resist any future outbreak of hostilities with all the influence it is possible for them to exert.

Admitting the very worthy motive actuating the publication of these pictures, the question nonetheless does intrude itself as to whether such publication will serve the desired purpose; rather, whether the pictures, despite their gory and repulsive nature, may not have exactly the opposite of the desired effect with many persons. It is to be remembered that we are living in very difficult times; that thousands of men are out of employment, living in distress upon relief payments from the State; that, in particular, the youth of the country is to a very great extent unable to find avenues in which to employ their stored up energies and give full play to their initiative and ambitions. To many of them comes the feeling, amounting almost to a conviction, that anything would be better than the deadening routine of a life of having nothing to do.

Faced at such a time with a pictorial review of all the activity, the excitement, the new experiences and thrills, and the adventure inseparable from war, is there not grave danger that, instead of shocking our youth with the horrors and sufferings of war, we may in fact, we may in the minds of many the thought that they would not be averse to undergoing the hardships, sufferings and possible death inseparable from war in order to subordinate for their present routine of idleness the experiences, excitement and adventures of war.

In all of us there is a longing for adventure. We all desire to visit foreign lands, to see and experience something new and different. Down through the centuries, and probably never more so than in this present age, man—even women—enjoy speed, action, thrills. Danger means nothing in these days to people desirous of establishing some new record; people are ready to risk their lives in almost every conceivable kind of an enterprise.

It is true, therefore, no matter how repulsive the object sought to be served, to present to the youth of Canada at a time when, temporarily at least, thousands of young men in their late teens and early twenties are at loose ends, with nothing to do, daily instalments of a pictorial history of the greatest war of all time showing what the youth of other brother nations experienced of action and adventure as well as of suffering and death.

There is no glory in war; there is no gain in war. Victor suffers almost as gravely as the vanquished. The last Great War has surely impressed that fact upon the nations. And the aftermath of war, the enormous financial and economic destruction and loss which inevitably follows all wars, brings sorrow, sufferings and ever accumulating losses almost as great as the toll of war itself. Indeed, instead of solving problems only creates new and even more ones, leading inevitably to another war. That is the basic cause of the unprecedented length of the present depression, because the apparent inevitability of another world war prevents any return of confidence; rather every person and every nation is planning and preparing for themselves in the light of what may happen and the happening of which is beyond their own control.

The Canadian people do not want war. If the other nations of the world spent no more money or thought on armaments and preparation for war than Canada does, there would be little danger of another war afflicting this old world. The Canadian people are opposed to war, and are desirous of doing everything they can to prevent it. The question is: Are we going about our educational work of prevention in the right way? Rather, is there not a considerable degree of danger that, quite unintentionally, we are creating an impression in certain quarters that, after all, another war might not be wholly undesirable.

Will Attempt Daring Aeronautical Feat

British Parachutist Anxious To Make Drop From Stratosphere

"I want to be the first man to drop from the stratosphere and I'm ready to gamble my life on a jump from a height of 25 miles."

John Tramm, the British parachutist who has survived more than 2,000 jumps, announced in these words the most daring aeronautical feat as yet planned by man. He is appealing to M. E. Ridge, youthful American, who intends to ascend 25 miles by balloon, for passage in the open basket in order to make the leap.

Experts say he will have only a 50-50 chance of emerging alive from the drop, even if Ridge should pierce the stratosphere with his daring passenger.

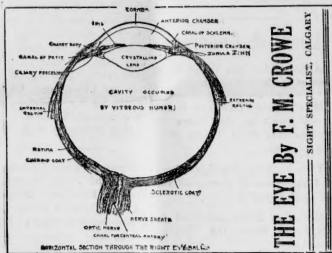

Tramm is tired of "experiments" and maintains that a healthy man can safely pass through the terrific ordeal of a 25-mile drop if properly trained and equipped with a special breathing apparatus. If Ridge accepts the offer, the feat will be attempted in England during 1921. Such distinguished scientists as J. D. H. Haldane, respiration authority, and Sir Robert Davis, are heartily supporting Ridge in his efforts to arrange for the 25-mile balloon ascent in an open basket. That is twice the height achieved so far in a rigid gondola.

"I've already been up to heights of more than five miles and a record delayed drop was made by a height of three and a half miles," said Tramm.

Want St. Paul's Protected

No Excavation in London Cathedral Area Should Be Allowed

Excavation and operations in the subsoil within a defined area around St. Paul's Cathedral (London), should be controlled by Act of Parliament. This suggestion follows publication of the full report which is based upon investigations of Sir Alexander Gibb and Ralph Freeman, British engineers. The suggestion is that a "sacred area" should be established around St. Paul's in which area "sacred control is essential, up to the point of prohibition in an extreme construction of all underground works." The report expresses the desirability of avoiding traffic vibrations in the vicinity of the cathedral and urges that means be devised to this end. Damage to the interior and ancient fabric of St. Paul's Cathedral have been present for many years.

The Beak Too

"I don't want to eat this egg. It's not a nice egg," protested the six-year-old daughter of the house at the breakfast table.

"Mummy," said her mother sternly, "you are always complaining of your food. Eat what is placed before you—every little bit is without another, or else I'll have to give you a good spanking."

All was quiet for some minutes. Then from the other end of the table sounded a muffled voice:

"Mother, dear, do I have to eat the beak too?"

Better Than Adrenalin

Investor Describes Electric Needle To Revive Person Apparently Dead

Electricity as a means of resuscitating apparently dead persons was described to physicians at Philadelphia by Dr. Albert S. Hyman, of New York, inventor, who asserted several experiments have been successful.

Dr. Hyman uses a slender golden needle charged with the amount of electricity produced by the normal beating heart. This is plunged directly into the heart, he said, in the same manner that the adrenalin has been injected for years.

Adrenalin, Dr. Hyman said, has been used with indifferent success, but the electrical invention has raised the probability of success to between 40 and 45 per cent. The instrument has proved successful in cases where death was caused by shock, in accident, child birth or operations while under ether, according to the inventor. In cases, however, where death was caused by constitutional deterioration the needle is ineffective.

Another Surgical Triumph

Man Recovers Night After Astonishing Operation On Eyes

Henry Watson, 29 years old and blind since he was two, looks wonderingly on a world he had seen but forgotten. Behind his recovery was a triumph of modern surgery.

Watson lost his sight when a disease attacked the corneas of his eye, the transparent shell that protects the exposed surface. His case remained apparently hopeless until Dr. Tudor Thomas, noted Cardiff specialist, became interested in him. From his sightless eyes Dr. Thomas peeled the diseased corneas, replacing them with healthy corneas from the eyes of two persons whose sight had faded from other causes.

Widespread interest in the case brought many famous surgeons to see Watson while he lay in hospital.

A New Fruit

"Should the name of ugli fruit be changed to a more beautiful name?" That is the question bothering certain importers at Montreal at present. Mentioning a shipment of 2,500 fine specimens of ugli fruit is northbound from British Honduras and Jamaica, aboard the Canadian National ships Lady Somers and Cathcart. The fruits will be landed at Halifax and rushed to the Canadian market.

Few encyclopaedias even mention ugli fruit. It is one of those exotic, recent fruits, partly the product of the tropical climate of British's Caribbean colonies and partly of man's genius. It is a cross between an orange and a grapefruit, importers explain. They predict a great future for it on the Canadian market, because of its especially intriguing flavors.

Nothing New

Canadian Railwaymen who have been congratulating themselves on having inaugurated "cent-a-mile" excursions have been shocked to find that 70 years ago, while the American Civil War was in progress, a cent-a-mile excursion was run between Chicago and Quebec, a return distance of 2,136 miles over lines now forming part of the Canadian National system. The fare was not quite $22.00.

The occasion was historic, for the excursion was run to enable citizens of Chicago to visit the "Great Eastern," then the wonder of the seas, which was lying in Quebec harbor. Fifty cents was charged to go on board the vessel.

Although today wages and other expenses are higher and the standard of comfort in modern railway travel enormously superior it has come as a surprise to learn that there has been no advance in excursion mileage rate reduction since the days of the old wood-burner.

New Way to Load

An experimental consignment of mules, intended for the Italian army, was loaded on shipboard with the aid of an electric shocking device attached to the end of a fishing pole. When the mule hesitated it was touched on the hindquarters with a piece of wet electrolyzed wire, a proceeding which, says the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways, greatly facilitated loading.

During the Great War, the Italians learned that the mule was more sure-footed than the horse and 20,000 army horses are to be replaced by this hybrid animal.

The loading was done at Saint John, N.B., by trained mule handlers.

Three local musicians, namely, Miss Gladys Rhodes, J. M. Moffatt and G. McLean, are now members of the Valcan Symphony Orchestra, which has as its director Corporal Forsland.

The Valentine Tea held in the Champions United church on Saturday under the auspices of the C.G.I.T. Girls, was highly successful both socially and financially.

K. R. McLean, R.O., of McLean & Anderson, Sight Specialist of 224 8th Ave West Calgary, will make his monthly visit to Champion, Friday, Feb. 23rd at the Drug Store.
